THE CONSTITUTION

(Lyon County Times)

Nevada has a very good Constitution. True, it is in some respects a little high pressed, but taken altogether it suits the requirements of the occasion as well as does the organic law of any State. There are a few defects which can be easily repaired by the Legislature at slight cost, but nearly every clause has been subjected to the scrutiny of the Court of last resort, and it is known that most of it will bear the test of judicial investigation. In a few trifling particulars beneficial changes might be made, such as consolidation of State and county offices. The consolidation of counties needs no amendment, the Legislature can make or unmake counties when it sees fit, this is one of the principal reasons for the anxiety displayed by some to have a consolidation. In answer to the calls for a Convention it is not a good idea to suggest that those who so earnestly desire a sweeping change should put forward the alterations which seem to be so urgently needed. Any amendment which is meritorious can receive the endorsement of both parties and there will be no difficulty attending the passage of resolutions, by the Legislature placing the needed improvements before the people. Let those who are ravenous for amendment state their grievances. They may easily publish such amendments as are desirable and if it will at all conduce to greater economy in the management of the State and county business, the people will vote to sustain the measure.

The JOURNAL agrees with an exchange which says: "The time has come when the government should control and conduct communication by wire as well as by rail. The system should be extended far beyond present telegraph facilities, and the cost should be vastly reduced. This can only be done by bringing the whole system under the government control, that it may be engrained on the postal system. This project is now engaging the attention of publicists, and there should be a public appreciation and demand for such facilities made known. Monopoly of any thing of a public need is an unfortunate thing, but monopolizing a means of communication is perhaps the worst of all for the country. By postal telegraph the government can free from existing exactions of a monopoly, and it should not be deferred."

The San Francisco Bulletin says Bank Commissioner White's term of four years expired yesterday. Mr. White was appointed to succeed Mr. Murphy, of San Jose, who was a member of the first Board, but who resigned four years ago, and before his term of office had expired. Mr. Murphy's coadjutors retired from office by the expiration of their term in May, 1882. Mr. White declined to go out then on the ground that his commission was for four years and not for Mr. Murphy's unexpired term. It is thought that Mr. White will be reappointed to succeed himself, as he belongs to the party now in power in the State.

The S. F. Alta says that in response to the circular sent out by the Central Pacific Railroad Company, asking merchants for a renewal of their special contracts, that 1,100 affirmative replies have been received. There only remain 300 out of the total 1,400 contractors who have not yet been received. Special contracts are will, under the terms of the circular, profit by any reduction of rates made by the Northern Pacific.

SHERIDAN ASSUMES COMMAND

WASHINGTON, November 1.

The formal transfer of the command of the army from Sherman to Sheridan took place at noon to-day at the headquarters of the army in Washington. General Sheridan spent the forenoon in making himself acquainted with the business of the office. General Sherman with his staff, rendered him every assistance. Shortly before 12 o'clock the officers of the army called on the Secretary of War, General Sherman to take official leave, and General Sheridan to report for duty. The transfer was accomplished quietly, without any ceremony whatever, beyond the issuance of a general order notifying the army of the change of commanders.

Headquarters of the Army, Washington, November 1, 1883, General Order No. 78.

In obedience to the order by the President, promulgated in General Order No. 71, October 13, 1883, from these headquarters, the undersigned hereby assumes command of the army of the United States. The following named officers compose my personal staff. Major Michael Sheridan, Assistant Adjutant General, Military Secretary, Captain Wm. J. Valkmar of the 5th Cavalry, Aid de Camp, Captain Jas. F. Griger of the Corps of Engineers.

(Signed) P. H. SHERIDAN, Lieutenant General.
R. C. Drum, Adjutant General.

These orders were the last and first official acts, respectively, of the outgoing and incoming commanders. Sheridan received the congratulations from prominent Generals.

CHICAGO, November 1.

The following is just received.

"I hereby relinquish the command of the Division of the Missouri, in compliance with General Order No. 17, dated at the headquarters of the army, October 13. In parting with the officers whom I have had the honor to command for the last 14 years, I desire to express thanks for the confidence and support given me by them, and to my administration of this Division. When I assumed command of it, hostile Indians crowded the country west of the Missouri river, from the boundary line of our possessions on the north to the Concho river, in Texas. But few settlements existed, and the construction of railroads there had only just begun. Since then the Indians have been so far subdued that in the territory formerly occupied by them alone, cities, towns and cattle interests have grown up, and railroads have been built. In these great changes the troops of this division have been the active and important agents. During these many years it has been my especial gratification to have had no disagreement with my subordinates, and that from the commander to the private soldier, faithful services have been rendered to the Government. With this assurance, I shall wish to remember the hardships suffered, the battles fought, the results achieved and the gallant conduct of those who have given the best of their lives in savage warfare. I relinquish a command that has been to me a pleasure as well as a duty.

(Signed) P. H. SHERIDAN, Lieutenant General.

General Order No. 18.—In compliance with general order No. 17, headquarters of the army, dated October 13, 1883, I hereby assume the command of the Division of the Missouri. Captain Wherry of the Sixth Infantry, and First Lieutenant, Charles B. Schofield, of the Second Cavalry, are announced as aids de camp.

(Signed) J. M. SCHOFIELD, Major General.

IRRIGATION RESERVOIRS

A Move in the Right Direction

(Enterprise Oct. 30th)

In Nevada there are hundreds of places where dams of small size would create immense reservoirs of water for use either for milling purposes or for the irrigation of agricultural lands. In many places along the Sierras streams and canyons head in large flats or valleys, which streams or canyons are the only outlet for the water drained from the snow melting on many square miles of hill. In such situations dams of no great length or height would form large lakes.

Not only are such places to be found in the Sierras, but also in hundreds of places in the interior ranges of mountains and hills. It is time the ranchmen should cease fighting about the natural water supply, and take steps for storing up artificially that which would give all ten times the quantity they now command.

Secretary of the U. S. Senate

George C. Gorham will be the choice of the Senate for Secretary in Munich next. Mahone and Riddiberger, the Senators from Virginia, are both for him and against any other candidate, and their votes are needed in the construction of committees, and their motto is, "No Gorham, no committees," and they are right. If they intend making a fight for a man, they should not do so in a sort of a half hearted way, infinitely worse than a square opposition. Your emancipated fighter in any sort of a contest lacks that virility which leads to pronounced success, and he had better be dead than to obstruct the way. Another thing, the U. S. is no opposition to Gorham in California. It has died out. There was a time when the standard of opposition was raised against him, but it has been failed. He is a man of great executive ability, clear brains and plenty of time, aggressive and intelligent. He has one best wish for his success—S. F. Spirit of the Times.

LOPPING OFF.—N. C. McFarland, Commissioner of the General Land Office at Washington, the dispatches say, is gradually reducing the number of local United States offices as the opportunity for retrenchment occurs. We have had one instance of it in Nevada recently, but perhaps the consolidation of the Carson and Eureka offices may not take place, there being such efforts to counteract it.—Eureka Sentinel.

Never before was there such a demand for James G. Blaine by the bone and sinew of the Republican party as there is at the present time. The officeholders dare not clamor for him, as they fear the Administration lash, but the people want him to the fore.—Sac Bee.

Carson has a ghost and Reno is envious. It has many ghosts—not even the ghost of a show to see the State Prison.—Pascadena Times-Review.

THE CARSON RACES.
Good Sport for a Starter.

The opening day of the races in Carson Wednesday had the advantage of unexceptionable weather, and there was a large attendance, including many ladies. For the running race, Conquest, Midnight, Fawn and Baldy Green were entered for a half-mile and repeat race, for a purse of $250. The first heat was won by Baldy Green, Midnight second, Conquest third. Time, 1:55 1/2. After the heat it was discovered that some one had changed the position of the half-mile pole and made it really only half mile and sixty yards. The horse owners did not object, however, and the second heat was run, Baldy Green, one of the field, winning again in 1:54 1/2. Conquest second, Midnight distanced.

THE TROTTING RACES.
Hayward, William Tell and Fred B were entered for the mile race, best three in five. Hayward drew the pole, and the horses got a send-off at the first trial. Hayward led at the turn, Fred B. breaking badly. At the half-mile pole Fred B. overtook Hayward, and Tell fell behind. The horses came down the home stretch together, all taking the lash. Fred B. won by a length, William Tell second, under a pull. Time 2:37 1/2.

Second heat—Hayward led at the turn, Tell second, and Fred B. five lengths behind, breaking badly and off his feet most of the time. He rallied, however, on the last half, and collared Tell on the turn into the home stretch, when Hayward went to pieces, and there was a gamy struggle for the lead from this on. Fred B. getting his neck under the wire about a neck ahead. Time, 2:36 1/2.

Third heat—Fred B. broke at the turn, and Hayward took the first place. Tell overhauled him at the half, and the two were neck and neck to the third quarter. Fred B. didn't seem to be able to regain his lost ground, and the heat was run down the home stretch between Tell and Hayward. Tell won by a length, Hayward second. Time, 2:37 1/2.

Fourth heat—Tell pressed the heat from the start, and won in 2:36 1/2. In the final heat Tell led at one time, but at the half was collared by Fred B., who in turn was overhauled by Hayward. As they swung into the homestretch they were neck and neck, with the Tell horse a few lengths behind. Now one horse led, and then the other led, and it was anybody's race for a couple of hundred yards. Just before coming to the stand Hayward's sulky crashed into Fred B.'s, and the air was filled with flying spokes. The crowd sent up a concerted yell as Fred B. shot under the wire, winner by a head, the few remaining spokes holding out. The race and purse was given to Fred B., and Hayward was distanced for foul driving. Time, 2:37. Yesterday there was a three in five trotting race, mile heats, and a two in three running race, three quarter heats.

Among the races announced at Carson to-morrow is a two mile and repeat trot for the horses Tump Winston, Fred B., Wm. Tell and Hayward.

A Carol in Apple Tree.
The Honley correspondent of the Yreka Union tells the following: "There is a curiosity here in the shape of an apple tree, growing in the orchard of Mrs. Hilt. It is a species of vine, running over a large area, and supported by an arbor about two feet high. The apples are tolerable for eating or preserving, and are plentiful upon the bush. If Adam and Eve had owned one of these odd bushes they would not have been obliged to climb after fruit."

Compromising Their Taxes.
It is reported that the Central Pacific Railroad is endeavoring to compromise with the State authorities for the delinquent taxes due California on the basis of the assessment of 1882, which was the lowest yet made upon the property of the Railroad Company. The State officers are reticent upon the subject, and it is not known what their disposition is in the matter.

Oregon Justices.
William Smith, a convict in the Oregon Penitentiary, has been sentenced to be hanged on the 14th day of December next. The crime for which he is to suffer death is an unlawful assault upon the Warden of the prison with a dangerous weapon. Had an offense of that nature been perpetrated in Nevada, it stand of being hanged, the offender would probably have been given a leather medal.

THE STOREY ROBBERY.
Disconsolate Creditors and Anxious Bondsmen.

The Commissioners of Storey county held a meeting yesterday, and allowed the usual monthly bills, but the creditors were not able to get their warrants cashed, the robbers not having left a sufficient sum to pay them. The District Attorney was instructed to take legal steps to recover the $7,504.64 stolen from the treasury. Frank Fredricks and J. S. Kaneen gave notice of their withdrawal from the bond of Treasurer Novia.

A Late Caller.
At about half past 7 o'clock last evening a seedy looking individual was discovered prowling around Josh Laws' dwelling house, which so frightened Mrs. Laws who was alone in the house at the time, that she shouted lustily for help. Her cries attracted the attention of Jim Stannaway and Tom Julien, who happened to be passing at the time, and they rushed in and captured the gentleman and marched him off down town and turned him over to Constable Nash, who provided him with lodgings in the "cooler." He claimed to be a Christian gentleman in somewhat reduced circumstances hunting for something to eat, and had his name recorded in the police register as Benj. F. Wade. Justice Young will afford him an opportunity to explain matters at 10 o'clock to-day.

The Central Pacific Makes Special Rates on Grain for Nevada.
Tuesday in response to a request of a number of Nevada shippers, the Central Pacific made a specially low rate for grain shipping from points in Nevada to tide water. It was shown that Nevada raised much more grain than was needed for home consumption, and it being found that the highest freight it could afford to pay to tide water was about $6 per ton, a rate of $5 was made from Reno to the Bay, and $6 from Battle Mountain. The regular rate was about $28 per ton.

"The Future is Full of Promise."
The Austin Revelle says: "The Utah Western will probably run between 90 and 100 miles south of Austin. As the Nevada Central is controlled by the parties at the head of the Utah Western it is very plain they will extend the little road up the Reese river valley to tap their trans-continental line, giving the little road great importance as a connecting link and as a feeder. This will give Lander county that much more taxable property, lower her fares and freights and give us an outlet."

Ready to Settle.
Constable Nash has received a formal notice from Wells, Fargo & Co., and from the Secretary of State, of California, that the reward offered for the capture of the Sierra Valley stage robbers will be paid on proper application. Detective Aull lodged with the Secretary of State and with W. F. & Co., papers showing that Nash is entitled to the reward.

Henry Miller, a young farmer in Spanish Spring Valley, left for the northern country a few days ago rather unceremoniously, leaving behind him, it is said, several creditors to mourn his departure. A. J. Clark has attached all the personal effects found on the premises.

The stock kept at the White House clothing store is complete in every respect, and is a credit to a town like Reno. There is not a more extensive and varied stock earned in any house of the kind in the whole State of Nevada. Prices are such as suit the times.

E. Meyer never allows his stock of cigars and tobacco to run down. At his place can always be had the best of foreign and domestic cigars, and favorite brands of chewing and smoking tobacco.

FAVORITISM.
is a bad thing, but Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" deserves its name. It is a certain cure for those painful maladies and weaknesses which embitter the lives of so many women. Of druggists.

A Card.
William Fumiger tenders his best thanks to his numerous friends, and the public generally, for the very liberal support accorded him in the past, and he begs to inform them that he has again effected a co-partnership with R. E. Queen, at the old stand, and respectfully invites a continuance of their patronage. The new firm have added largely to their stock of drugs, chemicals, patent medicines, wines and liquors for medicinal purposes; toilet and fancy articles, etc. In the dispensing departments they make a specialty of physicians' prescriptions and family receipts, bringing to their already large experience the latest achievements in scientific pharmacy, and are prompt in filling all orders entrusted to them.

A HAPPY BARBER.
Whom the President and Mr. Tilden Delight to Honor.

Mr. Harrod is a young and dapper little colored man who manages the barber shop in the Rovers House, Broadway and Houston street. He is well known to many society people and to most of the politicians about town, and is regarded by his friends as one of the most artistic members of his profession in the city. When a Mail and Express reporter called at his establishment he was found busily employed in lathering a patron preparatory to removing a heavy growth of beard. It was apparent from the deft manner in which he handled his subject that he was a master hand in his craft.

"Yes, sir, I take a pride in my profession, as I have a right to for in my time I have cut the hair of and have made happy some of the foremost men in the country. I claim to be both artistic and classic in my business and won't take a back seat for any colored or white barber in America. For, for instance, there is President Arthur. I have had the honor of soothing his cares and making him feel young and sprightly with my razor and scissors and he has never left my chair without expressing his thanks for my artistic work. The President is one of the most amiable and quiet men I ever put a razor to. Always when he comes in he says 'Good morning, Mr. Harrod,' or 'Good afternoon, Mr. Harrod,' removes his coat and vest, sinks into the chair and tells me what he wants. His whiskers, which are sprinkled with gray, are fine and silky like his hair, and I usually trim them in the English style. In cutting his hair I give him the Pompadour, which consists in trimming evenly, but not so short all round; the top, which is inclined to curl, is handled very carefully, so as not to despoil its contour. When I next shave him I expect he will like the volupedute cut. This is comparatively new and finds much favor among my high-toned patrons. It is an English invention and is not unlike the Pompadour in some respects. The horseshoe is another feature. In this we shingle all over, but not too close, leaving a graceful point at the back of the neck and a rounded curve in front. It is a sort of dandish, but it is popular. Mr. Tilden is not so easy to handle as President Arthur. The old gentleman, you know, hasn't much hair left and he is particular how it is cut and occasionally grows restless when being shaved. Still he is always gentlemanly. I usually brush his hair behind his ears and I never make any attempt at roachling, for he is opposed to it on principle. 'Always fix me up plain, Sam, for I am a plain man,' he says, and of course I do as he says. The politicians, as a rule, are very particular about the cut of their hair and the style of their mustache. They don't dye as much, however, as they used to and I believe it is going out of fashion. Brokers usually want their hair shingled pretty closely, but merchants and other business men prefer to wear their hair the medium length. Western and Southern men come to me with long locks and leaving it to my discretion. I give them the New York cut, which makes them feel proud and go away happy. Pugilists, like brokers, prefer closely cropped heads and I generally fix them up to suit their taste. Jim Mace, although getting well along in years, still has a fine head of hair, of which he is very careful. He generally wants it trimmed neatly and artistically and always pays well. Sullivan goes in for close shaving and for close cutting and is proud of his mustache, which I always wax well. Harry Hill has also a fine head of hair and likes it curled. He is one of my best patrons. Mitchell, the young English pugilist, likes a medium cut, with the horseshoe cut behind and thick on top. Actors have their whims and are more particular about their hair than any of my customers. Most of them, like clergymen and you newspaper men, wear their hair long. There are some, however, such as minstrel men, who prefer the close cut like the sports.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla acts directly and promptly, to purify and enrich the blood, improve the appetite, strengthen the nerves, and brace up the system. It is therefore in the truest sense an alternative medicine. Every invalid should give it a trial.

And wherein it appears that on the 25th day of April, A. D. 1881, the said defendant executed its certain series of 3,000 bonds of the denomination of $1,000 each and then and thereupon, and in each of said bonds, acknowledged itself indebted, and promised to pay to the holder thereof, at the City of New York, the sum of $1,000 on the first day of June, in the year 1880, and also therein and thereby promised to pay interest thereon at the rate of eight (8) per cent. per annum, interest payable semi-annually, on the first days of June and December of each year. That each of said bonds was one of a series of 3,000 of like amount, date, tenor and effect, amounting in the aggregate to three million dollars, and each of said bonds and all of them were secured by a mortgage or deed of trust duly executed and made to the complainant, Union Trust Company, of New York, which said mortgage or deed of trust was dated April 20th, A.
